Media release – 3/17/20

NEW ALBANY - - Effective at close of business today, the New Albany-Floyd County City-County Building will be closed to the public until further notice. This is being done to protect the citizens of Floyd County, our employees, and their families.

County government is working closely with the Floyd County Health Officer Tom Harris M.D., Building Authority, and the City of New Albany to ensure that necessary functions continue as needed, especially relating to the Criminal Justice Center and the courts.

As approved by department heads, employees in departments who can work from home will do so. To ensure that government services will continue, on a case by case basis, employees may access their offices while maintaining strict adherence to social distancing and other precautionary practices as directed by the county health officer.

Given this is a rapidly evolving health emergency, the leaders in city and county government will continue to monitor events and take further as warranted.

For the public who have specific questions regarding a particular department, please call them directly. The contact numbers are listed below.

Any further questions regarding government operations can be directed to the Floyd County Commissioners at 812.948.5466 or to the individual departments.
